Who should attend

This is a two days training course designed for corporate CFOs, financial controllers, finance managers, credit managers, risk analysts, business managers and entrepreneurs who are interested to acquire credit evaluation skills and to improve credit decision-making so as to support sales growth and reduce bad debt risks. It is also relevant for those in Sales who would like to develop a better understanding of the credit risk profile of their respective customers so as to ensure optimum credit limits for customers.

Who is the trainer

David How is the current Vice President of the Singapore Association of Credit Management. He is widely recognised as an expert practitioner in the field of credit management both in Singapore and in the Asia-Pacific region. David has more than 20 years' work experience in credit management as the Asia-Pacific Credit Director at two large MNCs. Attendees will be able to gain invaluable insights on the various credit evaluation methodologies under challenging credit environments. For more info on the trainer, please refer to:
